“Setting Appropriate Limits in Play Therapy”

A FREE 1.5 CE Workshop

Date/Time: March 23, 2013
9:15 AM – 11:00 AM

Location: Loyola Marymount University
Malone #112 AB
1 LMU Drive
Los Angeles, CA 90045

Workshop Description: Setting limits can be a difficult task even for seasoned play therapists. Limits provide for many things, including physical and emotional security for the child and therapist alike. This workshop delves into exploring limit setting in play therapy - what limits are appropriate, when to institute them, and what to do when the client continually tests the limits.

Workshop Objectives:
1. Participants will be able to describe two ways that limit setting is essential to effective play therapy.
2. Participants will explain how limit setting in play therapy helps provide a child with an alternative behavior to express themselves in a more socially appropriate manner.
3. Participants will demonstrate techniques on how to set realistic, effective and appropriate limits during play therapy.

Presenter: Quint Paige, MFT, RPT-S has been practicing play and sand tray therapy with children and families since 1998 in his Pasadena, CA practice. Quint has been using effective limit setting strategies in his private practice during this time. Since 1996, Quint has been utilizing play therapy with children with special needs at the Cheerful Helpers Child and Family Study Center. His current role at the center is special education teacher and play therapy clinical supervisor. Finally, Quint is an adjunct faculty member at Pacific Oaks College in Pasadena, CA having taught Clinical Skills in Family Therapy and Therapy with Children.

Registration: Contact Jeanette Sanchez at lacalapt@calplaytherapy.org or 323.321.1694 to RSVP. There is no charge to attend.
